RespAct is a project developed and run by CamP Group gGmbH. We have been giving communities and organizations around the world the tools they need to break down barriers to participation for marginalized groups through education, sports and community-leadership since 2013, in order to create sustainable, systemic social change.

RespAct

RespAct is a democracy education project, which uses sports to empower children and young people to be agents of change in their neighborhood.

Why educators should book RespAct:

RespAct supports the development of children and young people into strong, independent adults. Using low barrier to entry sports exercises, video and project work units focused on concrete issues in the neighborhood, participants gain self-confidence, practice conflict solving strategies and engage in local political processes in their immediate surroundings.

- ▶ Effective Significantly increases the participants' self-efficacy.
- ▶ Versatile Engages broad spectrum of young people using a variety of motivation strategies.
- ▶ Sustainable Initiates observable change in the local neighborhood.
- ▶ Connective Facilitates the dialogue between children and decision makers from business, politics and the public sector.
- ▶ Cooperative Fosters a trusting group and learning climate.

RespAct is designed to cater to your individual needs, is easy to run and serves all young people through different motivation types. Using our award-winning, modular system, you are only one step away from realizing your own local cooperation project with your students. Our modules include:

Camera Interview

Guessing Emotions

Mayor Roleplay

Box Positions

Neighborhood Map

RespAct Workshops for Educators

1 Engaging newly arrived migrants and local children

During the workshop, we will lead you through different project formats to enhance group trust and a constructive learning atmosphere for participants without a common language.

Sports and cooperation modules facilitate social exchange without a common language. Hands-on games designed to explore participants' immediate living environment create opportunities to engage with local children in a relaxed and stress-free environment. Planning and carrying out neighborhood improvement projects helps to foster positive local identification for all participants.

2 Neighborhood improvement projects: safe and secure young people in public areas

The workshop is designed to guide you through planning and implementing your own local cooperation project for children and young people, focused on their safety and security in public areas.

Using low barrier to entry sports exercises, video and project work, participants learn to stand up for their interests, work together and take personal responsibility in solving problems in their neighborhood. Children and young people experience a boost in their self-efficacy and understand their capabilities to become agents of change through participation in local democratic processes.

3 Environmental protection & sustainable neighborhoods

This workshop provides you with all the information necessary to plan and implement your own environmental youth project with a focus on neighborhood collective action.

Workshop leaders will demonstrate activities and games in which participants reflect upon behavior around waste disposal, analyze environmental problems in the local neighbourhood and develop and implement strategies for improvement. Sports and cooperation modules, scientific experiments and neighborhood improvement projects turns children and young people into competent experts on their neighbourhoods.

RespAct Successes

- ▶ Clean-up drives in schools and public playgrounds
- ▶ Design and implementation of anti-litter signs in public spaces
- ▶ Donation drives for refugees and homeless people
- ▶ Decoration of street furniture with self-designed graffiti
- ▶ Guerrilla gardening with seed bombs

Participating students, teachers, educators and local stakeholders confirm the social impact:

„I am certain that I can deal with difficult situations in the future.“

„I am able to solve problems in school by myself.“

We offer individual workshop solutions tailored to the needs of your group.
